DEFINING (no commas)

They carry essential information because they identify which thing or person we are talking about, and they are used without commas.

- The software which was used in the project was highly rated.
- Have they found the person who caused the crash last week?

We can use "that" instead of "which" or "who".

- The software that was used in the project was highly rated.
- Have they found the person that caused the crash last week?

Who/which/that can be omitted if followed by subject + verb.

- The app (which/that) I created has over 1 million downloads is constantly updated.
- You are not the developer (who/that) I thought you were.
