Could artificial intelligence get eradicate our humanity?

As a junior software developer, I strongly consider this amazing and emerging technology could suppose a huge hazard for us and also to preserve our survivalism. We must act as soon as possible and get abolish the frenetic and decontrolled development it is already getting. And there are several to support my mere opinion.

First and foremost, a Japanese research has discovered recently the AI application they are currently developing has already been able to modify its own font code without any help and get avoid the restrictions and limitations imposed previously from our part. At the same time, this type of technology involuntarily contributes to reduce our own mental capacity and it goes worst.

In conclusion and finally, we need to be correct this trend and to that, we must think more and better.
