Calificado por	 Rut Rodriguez Inglés

1st Term mark: 9,2

Tasks (20%): 8,4 = 1,68 / 2

Task 1: 7

Task 2: 9,8

Exams (80%): 9,4 -> 7,52 / 8

Use of English (40%): 40 / 40

Reading: 20 / 20

Listening: 16 / 20

Writing: 18 / 20

Vocabulary: 3,5 / 4

Your vocabulary is appropriate overall, and you've tried to incorporate some terms related to the Internet, communication, and social issues. However, there are a few issues with word choices and phrasing:

"the Internet has become ~~in~~ an essential part"

"comfortabilities" is not a standard word in English -> "comfort" or "convenience."

"it offers ~~to~~ us numerous advantages" (more natural)

"that it could affect ~~s to~~ our global society" (no -s after modals!)

Grammar: 3, 5 / 4

You're on the right track with your grammar usage, but some errors in verb tense and structure need attention.

"As you probably know~~n~~" (present simple).

"involving daily actions like: working, education, entertainment, and even social interaction, ~~between~~ other highly relevant aspects." -> "among" ('between' is for distinct pairs or items, and 'among' is for groups.)

"general disinformation and fake news have ~~multiply~~" -> "multiplied" (have + participle).

Content: 4 / 4

Your essay clearly covers the topic, highlighting both positive and negative aspects of the Internet's impact on society. You've provided examples to support your points, such as the effects on communication, education, business, and social interactions. You've also presented an insightful conclusion, proposing a solution to the challenges the Internet brings. The content is strong and well-rounded. Great job!

Structure: 3, 5 / 4

The structure of the essay is mostly good, with a clear introduction, body, and conclusion. However, the introduction could be more direct and concise. For example: "As you probably know~~n~~, the Internet has become ~~in~~ an essential part of our lives since little years ago" -> "in recent years." It's more direct and avoids unnecessary complexity.

Also, your points are organized well within the body paragraphs, but transitions between ideas could be smoother. For instance, after discussing the positive aspects, the transition to the negative effects could be stronger. You might use a connector like "On the other hand" or "However, it's important to consider the negative effects as well" (this would also have helped you in the next section)

Cohesion: 3, 5 / 4

You use some linkers like “moreover,” “however,” and “in conclusion,” which help tie your ideas together. However, you could work on improving the flow by using more varied or sophisticated linkers.

“One example could be that” -> “For instance” or “An example of this is...”

Additionally, the use of linkers could be more consistent throughout the essay, especially in the transitions between different ideas or paragraphs.
